

I understand you are considering a national telemarketing privacy standard that is substantially weaker than Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law. Indiana's law has freed us from annoying, unwanted attempts to conduct commerce in our homes, and we like it that way. State laws that are stricker than the standard you envision should not be preempted. Thanks for your consideration.